<作例 1>

Since I don't like to commute by train, I prefer to work from home. Commuter trains in Japan are always too crowded, which tires me out. If I work remotely, I am free from the stress caused by packed trains. (40 words)

<作例 2>

I'd like to work in an office because I like communicating with my colleagues in person. Talking casually with them sometimes gives me a clue to solve some troubles I am facing in work and relieves me of my anxieties. (40 words)

< 作例 2 >

The figure shows that “co-sleeping” is far more common in Asian countries than in Western countries although in Canada and France it is significantly more frequent than the other Western countries. This trend might reflect cultural values that emphasize family closeness in Asian countries. (44 words)

2.

< 作例 1 >

One potential benefit of “co-sleeping” is that children can feel safer and more secure at night because they are close to their parents. This sense of security might be beneficial to their emotional development. (34 words)

< 作例 2 >

One drawback of “co-sleeping” is that it may interfere with a couple’s privacy. Husbands and wives need time together as adults, and it is often difficult to secure such time unless their children are asleep. (35 words)
